

[Insert title of invention]System for Multiple Signers on an Electronic Card and Gift

Abstract of Disclosure

The current invention is a viral group greeting cards Internet service. It is a method and process that is an electronic greeting card service that utilizes the distributed access afforded by the Internet or local area networks (LANs) to enable the collection of greetings from multiple users on a single greeting card and its delivery to a recipient. It also allows for the pledges and collection of funds from multiple parties for a gift.

Figures

APP ID=10063108